STUDENT SENATE

The Senate, which is composed of honor students from the four classes serves as the legislative body and acts in cooperation with the Executive Board in making and revising rules. This year a committee from the Senate submitted a revision of the dating rules in the Student Handbook, which were accepted and approved by the Executive Board and a committee of the administration.

It is the duty of the Senate members to display the flag on the campus. The Senate cooperated with other major organizations in sponsoring a houseparty for high school seniors. One of its most important jobs is in connection with the orientation of Freshmen each year.

First big event in the life of the '46 MONTAGE was sponsoring Elite Night, with problems of staging, and securing judges, and the selections of the beauties and the elite. Then came the job of getting six hundred students photographed, accomplished by Mr. Gasper in record-breaking time. Afterwards and in between times the editor struggled with layouts and the business manager trekked over the state to secure ads, while the staff chewed pencils over write-ups and the photographer tried to find a different angle of much "shot" views.

When the material was finally sent to Mr. Faerber and Mr. Preiss, it was accompanied by the hope of the editor and staff that they had accomplished the task of every yearbook—that of capturing and recording in words and pictures the spirit of college life.

The job of a newspaper is to be a voice of the group it represents, and on the Alabama campus the ALABAMIAN serves such a purpose. During 1945-46 the objective of the ALABAMIAN has been to voice the ideas and opinions of the students as well as to disseminate news of campus events.

It was the aim of the editor and staff to be the medium by which the students might express their views on campus and national situations. This was accomplished through the column "They Say" and the liberal editorial policy.

RECREATION ASSOCIATION

PROVIDES ENTERTAINMENT AND RECREATION FOR STUDENTS ON THE CAMPUS

OFFICERS

MAMIE LOU PIPKIN	President
MILDRED DEASON	Vice-President
DOROTHY JOHNSON	Secretary
MARGARET HODGES	Treasurer

Providing recreation and entertainment for six hundred students is the task undertaken by the Recreation Association. It is the Association's purpose to promote friendship and college spirit among the students. These objects were accomplished by sponsoring intra-mural tournaments, planning week-end entertainments at the Field House, placing ping pong tables, and cards in the basements of the dormitories. The Association also furnished records for the record players in Tutwiler and the Tea House.

A vital part in the student's life of play was token by the Recreation Association during the past year.

College NIGHT

From the beginning of College Night to the end the purples had that "pep, the pep, the purple pep." Once the cabinet was elected the writing crew immediately detached itself from the remainder of the cabinet and by the skin of their teeth met the one-week deadline for the stunt and drama scripts.

The PURPLES

At the scene shop able workers turned out pink elephants, bats, and fish. In the meantime the costume committee labored to disguise Purples as rabbits, fairies, and Biblical characters.

The opening curtain of College Night rang up on the Purple dramatization of two scenes based on I Corinthians 13:13 and telling the story of the mothers of Jesus and Judas Iscariot.

"Four Roses or Bud is Wiser" signified the Purple stunt which showed the workings of an inebrioted gentleman's mind.

The Purples sang a lullaby to the youth of tomorrow as their slow song, and the blues of a darkie who wanted to sing as their pep song.

And so the final curtain on College Night rang down on what the judges proclaimed a "Purple College Night."

COLLEGE

. . . The

Between the first "Yea Gold!" and the judges' decision were four weeks of feverish activity for three hundred Golds. Musicions went about with furrowed brows, and writers paced floors in the process of turning out a stunt ond a drama. Golds all over the campus turned out nightly to shout themselves hoarse at pep meetings ond to try out for parts in the productions. New costumes were whipped up, old ones remade, rehearsals carried on, and stage sets created simultaneously, while the business manager struggled to balance the Gold budget. Stage crews rose at five A. M., to hoist scenery about, while the entire Gold side poured into Palmer or Reynolds to practice the songs every day.

Under the leadership of Alice Mayfield ond Sarah Snuggs, the finished product of the Golds was ready for the big night. YOUNG BESS, the drama,was an account of an incident in the life of Eng-

. . . CROOK

It all started at noon in May 1945 when the lowly Juniors made their noisy and gaudy entrance into Palmer Hall garbed as war workers. Steel helmets, gay bandannas and slacks mingled with the somber caps and gowns of their majesties, the Seniors. Thus Crook convocation started Crook Week and the Juniors became "Trogladytes" (which signifies a lowly dweller of caves) at the mercy of the Seniors.

With sore knees from kneeling before the Seniors, and aching backs from poking into every nook and cranny searching for the sacred symbol of Seniordom—the Crook —the Trogladytes obeyed commands and performed.

WEEK

Skits, songs, donces and impersonations were presented for the entertainment of the dwellers of Tutwiler Hall. The highlight of these performances was May Day staged and produced in the amphitheatre by the aforementioned Trogladytes.

And it all ended at noon three days later when the crook was uncovered from the vines adorning the Library, and once again the Juniors resembled human beings and gained Senior status.

COLLEGE THEATRE

"Dr. Trummie" Who Can Make Any Play Rehearsal An Exciting Experience.

"Strike set!" And people—girls to be exact—hurry from every corner of the stage and auditorium to put up or take down scenery. This is the staging crew, an important unit in any College Theatre production depends. But other committees have been proved to be just as essential. These are lighting, costume, make-up, and properties. Not to leave out probably the most indispensable of all—there are the actresses who spend hours in rehearsing and more hours in learning lines.

To see the Scene Shop with flats, trees, doors, stairs, nails, hammers, and paint scattered from the floor to the gallery is necessary to really appreciate the finished sets in all their glory. The College Theatre wardrobe, complete with historic, European and Oriental, and modern costumes is a pride of the College.

The Theatre Council, composed of those who have taken part in the Theatre productions, assists Dr. Trumbauer, the director, as an advisory board. The chairmen of the various committees are chosen from this council.

SPORTS

Through intra-mural sports and tournaments, keen competition between the dormitories and individuals was kept up. Afternoon sports in the form of tournaments captured the interest of the dormitories in an attempt to win the trophy—the brown jug—for the hall. The jug is presented to the dormitory which wins the tournament in each different sport.

At the beginning of the year the Freshmen enjcyed the tenniquoits and volley ball tournaments, the wings of Main competing.. Later on the soccer, badminton, and basketboll games drew large numbers of players.

The CLASS of 1946

The Senior Class, the Class of 1946, has the distinction of being the fiftieth class to graduate from Alabama College. Graduating classes over the fifty years have been proud to go out from here to make their way. Each woman has had an opportunity to serve her state and nation.

We feel that this class on the golden anniversary of Alabama College has a special opportunity. And it is with hope and faith that we look forward to a future of peace after three years of our college career spent in wartime. The promise of a golden future is here as we remember the sun's rays pointing upward toward peace from behind the clouds on the day that victory was won.

The SENIOR CLASS

During the past four yeors many changes have taken place in the world around us. A war was begun and ended and peace was the hope of all.

In the lives of the Seniors of 1946 many changes have taken place since they entered college life in 1942. They have passed through the trials of Orientation and five-hour History, or the Sophomore exoms and the class play. There came the doys os Juniors, and the "Troglaydytes" learned the true meaning of ccoperation when they searched for the Crook. Then the four years of schaolwork were climaxed as the girls entered the sacred domicile of Tutwiler ond suddenly found themselves responsible for the mojor organizations of the campus. Caps and gowns were donned ond the Seniors assumed the roles of leadership.

The JUNIOR CLASS

A reputation gained by tradition of being the "Jolly" Juniors was upheld by the Class of 1947, far they were gay and happy-go-lucky, planning pranks to play an their superiors, the Seniors. They followed another tradition, that of stealing the Crook, case and all from Tutwiler, and of raiding Tut while its occupants dined at a banquet.

However, theirs was nat all tricks and pranks, for the Juniors had their serious moments and showed to all that they were possessed with great capabilities. In the arganizations they held positions of impartance and made invaluable contributions in many activities.

Dramatic abilities were proved in their unusual play production "The Night of January 16th," and their social aptness in another of their successful ventures, the Junior Prom.

This year the Juniars proved that as Seniors next year they will go an to more success in their duties.

Sculpture—Frances Blackwaad, Margaret Harrell, Miss Allen, and Jeanne Gibbans Put the Finishing Touches

The SOPHOMORE CLASS

It was the Sophomores who had the answer for every question and gave it willingly to the unsuspecting Freshmen and helped to orient them to A. C. life. It was this some Class of 1948 thot provided enthusiosm and sporkle for all the campus activities. They kept Ramsey Hall—and Main—resounding with their merriment, and they even reached the point where they could get their late sleep in spite of that noisy object just behind Ramsey which always announces 7 A. M.

Thot there was an ample supply of tolent ond obility among the Sophs was made evident when o lovely Hop was successfully "out of this world," which spells "Heaven" in any language; when the Sophomore play was one of the most professional of the year; and when they mastered Sophomore Lit., Psychology and Sociology—and the Sophomore tests without a mishap.

The FRESHMAN CLASS

The first sights that the Freshmen saw as they entered the gates was a mass of white dresses of Orientation committee. Then came the group meetings, and seemingly thousands of pencils and tests. Some managed to get homesick that first week, even with all the activities given in their honor.

After the first weeks, these same Freshmen felt as experienced as the Seniors and proved their abilities by presenting a gay Hollowe'en party for the student body and their play, "Seven Sisters," which was all but professional. They proved that they had looks with their parade of beauties in Elite Night.

The second semester found them bewildered by College Night, but they wholeheartedly entered all phases of activities and soon they were indispensable.

One of the cleverest and most original dances featuring "Love Letters" was planned by this Class of 1949—and with forty stags!

And when Spring elections rolled around their first votes were valued by all and the so-called "Fresh"-men were firmly established as important members of the Alabama College compus.

Rewriting the chapter's constitution and making plans to become a part of Mortar Board, the national fraternity, have been other activities of Lambda Sigma Pi. In cooperation with the President's Council, Lambda Sigma Pi assisted in preparing newly elected officers for their positions as campus leaders during the coming year. Lambda Sigma Pi sponsored the campaign speeches of the candidates for the Student Government offices.

PI DELTA EPSILON

TAKES AN INTEREST IN JOURNALISM

Journalistic ability as shown by members of the staffs of the student publications is recognized by Pi Delta Epsilon. The national chapter supplies literature and materials to the local chapter for their information in planning better publications and improving on their journalistic ability. The members discussed ways of preparing more vital writing in many phases of news publishing.

OFFICERS

HELEN PARRISH	President

Once again this year Pi Kappa Delta sponsored an Intramural Discussion contest on the campus in an effort to stimulate interest in public speaking. Forty students from the four dormitories discussed the question, "Should the United States Have Universal Military Training?" East Main was judged the winner and presented with the Pi Kappa Delta trophy.

Left to Right: Helen Parrish, Merle Lunsford, and Virginia Rice.

The Debate team was also reorganized and made its first post-war trip to the Savage Forensic Tournament in Durant, Oklahoma, and to Georgetown College in Georgetown, Kentucky. Pi Kappa Delta members of the team participated in debate, oratory, extemporaneous and impromptu speaking.

PI TAU CHI

IS AN HONORARY METHODIST ORGANIZATION

The Methodist Church in order to show recognition to Methodist students who have excelled in college and have served the church during their college career established Pi Tau Chi. Students who were chosen to this honor society help to promote further interest in and service to the church to which they belong. Pi Tau Chi is a new organization on the campus, but it has successfully combined religious life with school work.

Students who show talent and ability in art are invited to become members of Sigma Alpha Chi. These members continue their work and interest in art by studying new and improved artistic methods and plans.

Sigma Alpha Chi puts into use and practical application the knowledge and ability required. The members made wooden ducks and other toys and prepared a picture scrapbook which they sent to the Crippled Children's Clinic in Birmingham. Through this worthy project the children of the Clinic found hours of enjoyment.

SIGMA ALPHA SIGMA

HONORS THE FUTURE SECRETARIES

Honor students in Secretarial Science are organized in Sigma Alpha Sigma in order that they may work together toward further achievement and scholarship in their major field. As members of this honorary society these students who will become secretaries are given an opportunity to come in closer contact with the professional world and the position of the secretary. They are allowed to keep abreast of the times and are at all times striving to promote greater interest and achievement which will be indispensable in their future work.

The study of Spanish and Spanish-speaking countries is continued outside the classroom by Mu Delta Alpha which is a local honorary Spanish fraternity. By speaking in Spanish at the meetings, the members acquire more fluency in the language, and by discussing the customs and habits of the Latin people and countries they increase their knowledge and appreciation of our neighbors to the south.

It is fortunate that on our campus there are exchange students from Central and South America who share their experiences and native tongue with Mu Delta Alpha.

ZETA PHI ETA

MAINTAINS HIGH SPEECH IDEALS

Zeta Phi Eta is the only professional speech arts fraternity for women alone. It is one of the ambitions of the Speech majors on the campus to become members of this nationally known society for the furthering of Speech arts in the professional fields

OUR TREASURED LANDMARKS will Endure

Long after war has ceased they will stand as beacons to the American Way . . . to greater achievement in religion, arts, science, research, and industry. The way is not easy. It is narrow. It is sometimes rough. Other paths beckon alluringly, as seeming short cuts. But in mankind's halting progress through the ages many paths have been explored before. If now in uncertainty we change paths we will slow up progress and confuse those whose eyes are on us. By further smoothing of the proved paths we can continue to inspire earnest men everywhere to follow the way that already has led one nation so far toward the better and happier life for all.
